

Environmental Policy

Somerton Energy is committed to protecting the environment and safeguarding public and employee health in all aspects of its operations. Environmental protection and safe conduct are the responsibility of Somerton Energy Limited, its employees, its alliance partners and suppliers of goods and services.

Specifically, Somerton Energy will:

- Comply with the intent and provision of all applicable laws, regulations and standards.
- Minimise environmental impact.
- Ensure that employees, partners, suppliers and the public are made fully aware of Somerton Energy's responsibilities for the effects of its operations on the environment.
- Ensure adequate management systems and procedures are in place to manage and mitigate the risks to the environment from Somerton Energy's operations.
- Commit to continual improvement in environmental management performance.

Somerton Energy's business ethos is to operate in a manner which addresses three fundamental principles to achieve balanced outcomes. These fundamental principles are:

- Environmental Responsibility;
- Social Acceptability; and
- Economic Viability

Somerton Energy is committed to meeting these objectives, to monitoring the meeting of these objectives and to amending its approach if it proves to be inadequate and complying with its stated intentions and plans. In addition, Somerton Energy is committed to the public dissemination of this information.
